Touch-free Handwashing Solutions

Intense Spotlight on Hand Hygiene

Health officials are unequivocal about the importance of hand hygiene to reduce the spread of disease-causing microorganisms like COVID-19. Americans have heard this message loud and clear and are washing their hands more than ever right now. Nearly 75% say they wash their hands more frequently or more thoroughly when seasonal flus or viruses are going around.

Including touch-free handwashing products in your commercial washroom design is important to users. Making everything touchless in the restroom is the top improvement Americans want, aside from keeping restrooms cleaner and better stocked.

86% of Americans say it is important that a public restroom has touchless fixtures
